Reverdy Johnson on the Duties of American Citizens.

We commend the following to the attention of our patriotic citizens:

WASHINGTON, September 27, 1861.
To the Editors of the Baltimore American:

GENTLEMEN: I regret to learn that some of our Union friends are doubting my acceptance of the nomination to the House of Delegates for Baltimore county, with which their Union Convention so justly honored me.

I never for a moment hesitated. It is true that the office, should the people of the county confer it, will involve much inconvenience and loss; but what are these to a loyal citizen in this period of our State's trial and peril? She is entitled to the service of all her sons in any situation in which it is supposed they may be able to succor her.

A rebellion such as the civilized world has never before known for wickedness and insanity, not only without even the pretext of provocation, is involving our State (thank God! yet, as ever and to be forever, in platers' despite, true to the Union) in alarm and affliction, already bring wretchedness to many a household.

Unless we prove forgetful, totally, of the lessons of our forefathers; oblivious, especially, of the teachings of Washington; regardless of the opinions of the great and good men of other times, friends of constitutional liberty, heretofore, in their struggles to secure it, animated by the brightness of our example, we will remain in the Union, and, joining heart and hand with the faithful everywhere, expend our treasure and our blood in perpetuating what our fathers expended their treasure and blood in establishing.

Discarding all mere party promptings as not only unsuited, but degrading to the occasion, it is our imperative obligation, as we reverence the dead and love the living, to rally around the Administration—cheering, applauding them, to the fullest measure of our ability, in their present mighty efforts to crush the treason. These efforts must succeed. No cause can long be maintained which rests on broken faith and violated pledges. From these we know, the world knows, the rebellion originated. The conspirators who plotted it, have for years been stealthily engaged in the almost fiendish purpose. Oaths, what were they to them? What were they ever to traitors? They served only the better to conceal and work out the intended treason. And developed, by whom are their armies led? By men educated, clothed, fed at the expense of the nation, and owing whatever honest fame they possess to its protection and confidence. And how are they discharging their traitorous taste? Deluding still further the mistaken but honest citizens of the South, they, from the first, have lost no occasion to fill their ears with the grossest falsehood, libelling, with that end, the very soldiers with whom or under whose command they had assisted in maintaining the honor of our flag—soldiers who they know are as humane as they are gallant and honorable.

A cause so beginning, so maintained, cannot long withstand the rightful authority, and therefore the almost unlimited power of the Government—a Government from its birth securing throughout its entire limits more of individual happiness and social prosperity than man ever before enjoyed, and never more fruitful of these blessings than at the very moment when treason raised its unhallowed hands, for the mere sake of individual aggrandizement and power, to destroy it.

What is to be done in such an emergency true men can easily decide. The question, in the language of Henry Clay in 1850, when anticipating such a catastrophe, admits of "but one possible answer—the power, the authority and dignity of the Government ought to be maintained and resistance put down at every hazard."

Let the voice of Maryland in the coming election speak trumpet-tongued that determination, and beside that it will, in a great measure, rescue us from the direst calamities of the conflict; it will carry dismay to the rebel leaders, and do as much, if not more, to arrest them in their unholy career the loss of battles.

With great regard, your obedient servant,
REVERDY JOHNSON.

LANE'S EXCUSES.—Gen. Lane burned the town of Osceola, Missouri, for the following reasons:

1. It was traitorous to the core; but one loyalist could be found in it.
2. It was a place of general rendezvous for the enemy.
3. He intended to make of it a military post during the Winter.
4. It was naturally a strong position, and could be easily fortified.
5. If left standing the enemy would return as soon as our army left.
6. The Government could not afford to make such expeditions every few weeks.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Nothing but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true;
Are [illegible] to defend it [illegible] sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor [illegible]

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1861.

The Tory and the Patriot.

Gov. Curry denounces taxation to support the government. He requires that the war be stopt on our part and that the rebels should take possession of the country. And that is the position taken by the secessionists of Oregon. Men who hold and preach these opinions in the Eastern States, find their way into Fort Lafayette.

In contrast with this treason, hear Thomas Francis Meagher. In a speech in New York he said:

"My heart, my arm, my life to the national cause, and to the last it will be my highest pride, as I conceive it to be my holiest duty and obligation to share its fortunes. I care not to what party the chief magistrate of the Republic belonged. I care not upon what plank or platform he may have been elected. The platform disappears before the Constitution, under the injunction of the oath he took on the steps of the capitol on the day of his inauguration. To me the potency of the national government, the honor and glory of the national flag are of infinitely higher value than party. I assert without fear of contradiction that the national government has suffered more from the patience, the leniency, and the magnanimity it has practiced towards its enemies, and those who are in sympathy and league with them, than it has done from the courage, the science, the firm energy of those who have taken the field against it, and violently shaken the banner of revolt and repudiation in its face."

These are truths. Government is suffering more from secession sympathizers in the loyal States than from all the hostilities of the enemy. These traitors know it: and we are glad to see the energy now exhibited to put them into places of security. We have men of the same class here and their time will come.

No Peace.—The brother of Governor Morgan, of New York, an irrepressible Republican, has made $150,000 in purchasing vessels for the United States. He wants the war continued. In St. Louis, a Mr. Fox, a pet of Fremont's, has made double that amount by selling tin ware to the Government at double price. He wants the war continued. [illegible] Woods, who swindled the miners of California, and is now swindling the Government, wants the war continued. Thousands of others engaged in the same lucrative and perfectly safe business, want the war continued.—Portland Advertiser.

That there are unprincipled men in this country who make money by its misfortunes, we are ready to admit. There are unprincipled men every where. We have seen them in Oregon. How many thousands, we might say hundreds of thousands, of dollars sent here for useful purposes, have been wasted, and the avails placed in the pockets of the political friends of the Advertiser! Every government and every country is cursed by such men. But the Advertiser, instead of giving persons of this character, as a representation of the patriotic citizens of this country, could properly have said that nineteen-twentieths of the people of the loyal States were for a continuation of this war, at every personal sacrifice of comfort, treasure and blood, until our Union shall be again consolidated, and its flag float in triumph over all its States and territories. The insinuation that all who desire to sustain the Government by a continuation of this war, are speculators upon the means of the country, is a gratuitous insult to our Union-loving people—is as false as hell itself, and comes from a heart blackened with treason.

The Portland Advertiser pretends to favor the doctrine of State Rights. The people of Missouri and Kentucky have repeatedly declared that they desire to remain in the Union—and yet the rebels of other States have invaded them to force them out of the Union. Has the "Advertiser" ever complained?

Treason in Oregon.—A while ago the [illegible] published a rebellion [illegible] in which the following language occurred: [illegible]

"We have [illegible] to invoke [illegible] [illegible] paralyze [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]"

We [illegible] Oregon [illegible]

The [illegible] Gen. Lane. [illegible] of the [illegible] at Mr. Lincoln [illegible] war [illegible] to paralyze his efforts to obtain it.

No one can mistake the [illegible]. Mr. Lincoln represents the government, though Mr. Lincoln and his administration at this time [illegible] the government is crushed. There will [illegible] government. The nation will be in a state of anarchy. That is manifestly what the Gazette, speaking for Lane, [illegible]. Then its Southern friends could run riot over the ruins of the best government upon earth.

This is the policy—the wish—the design—of the traitor party in Oregon. Disguise it as they may, this is the bitter draught they offer to the people of the Loyal States.

North Carolina.—The exhibition of patriotic feeling in the Legislature of North Carolina shows that the love of the Union remains with the citizens of the Old North State. It is smothered for a time, but will break forth the first opportunity. The Sacramento Union well says, that the rebellion is not yet in the hands and under the control of the "poor white men" of the South: it is now under the control of the Southern aristocrats, who hold the offices, civil and military, and who have plunged the country into the abyss of rebellion; but the day is approaching when it will be transferred to the arbitrament of the laboring men of the South, who are a vast majority of the population, and they will decide for the Union and against the Rebel Confederacy. The rebellion was begun without their aid, but they will determine when it shall end.

Privateering.—It will be remembered that the United States proposed to enter into the agreement made by the great European powers that Privateering should be regarded as piracy. England would not assent, because it would be a blow against the Southern Confederacy. Should we get into war with England on account of Cottondom, our privateers would sweep her commerce from the ocean.

A Firm Union Man.—Col. Payne, of the U. S. army, in Richmond, has been latterly persecuted on account of his adherence to the government. All manner of means were used to swerve him from his duty—bribes, threats, flatterings. Finally the dog showed his teeth and threatened him with the loss of his property—to be taken from him—$80,000. "Let it go," said the aged soldier.

Breckenridge's Plan.—J. C. Breckenridge, it is understood, has said:

"Let the war go on and the Pacific slope, now doubtless devoted to the Union, when they find the burdens of taxation greater than the burden of separate condition, they will separate."

It will appear that the Portland Advertiser is working to the same end.

It has become a common occurrence for the Columbia river steamers to bring to Portland large quantities of gold dust. These amounts now large, will probably be quadrupled next season. The Julia brought down $50,000 in dust on Monday night.

A Southern View of Peace Parties.—The Memphis Avalanche of the 4th October pronounces them "arrant humbugs," and says the South will continue "to fight against the people" of the North "until she gets rid of them forever."

It is said that some Secessionists advise men of their kidney not to pay the war tax. This would be secession and war.

It is understood that England has cotton enough to keep her mills going till March next, and by that time she will be receiving large supplies from India and Egypt.

A Virginian owing some debts in Cincinnati, made his purchases in Louisville, and started with them in a steamer for Kanawha. A United States Marshal interposed, and took possession of them, on their arrival. [illegible] found himself out-generaled.

The Louisville Journal thinks that the Courier of that city, now suppressed, should have been sent to Gen. Price.

The Richmond Enquirer says the Confederate Congress sit with closed doors on account of the "gladiatorial" performances of the members.

We don't trouble ourselves to give the report of the elections in the East, for they are all one way—Union.

[illegible] Appeal.

"What [illegible] this country [illegible] such are [illegible] of the war. What does the [illegible] promise?"—Bulletin [illegible]

And who [illegible] have struck a blow at the [illegible] of this country. I [illegible] which she will [illegible] the very face [illegible] sympathy? Even while loyal Americans are pouring out their blood like water, the [illegible] and its party are dealing with the enemy, giving their sympathy and aid to traitors.

Fatal Affray.—On the afternoon of the 27th ult., in Jackson county, an affray occurred on Sam's Creek, in which Peter Scott was killed by a rifle shot by Robt. Wilson. From evidence given before a Coroner's jury, it appears that Wilson acted in self-defense. The difficulty originated from a political discussion. Scott was a Secessionist. [Orville R. Scott was the name of this man. His parents reside in Yamhill county, Oregon.]

Remains of Col. Baker.—At the latest dates from Washington, it was not determined where the remains should be interred. Some friends proposed it should be at Washington; others in Illinois, and others on the Pacific coast.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial and Asthmatic Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public Speakers and Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

CITY.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR SATURDAY. — The Com- mittee of Arrangements, appointed by the cit- izens of Portland, on the 2d inst., for the pur- pose of taking ... sorrow at the ... soldier and patriot, Hon. E. D. Baker, have, after consultation, decided that such ceremonies be held at the Methodist Church on Saturday, the 9th inst., at half past one o'clock, P. M., at which time the Rev. Thomas H. Pearne will deliver an address suited to the occasion. The Order of Exercises will be as follows:

EXERCISES.

Dirge .... The Band.
Prayer.
Singing .... The Choir.
Resolutions to be adopted.
Address .... Rev. Thomas H. Pearne.
Singing .... The Choir.
Prayer.
National Air .... The Band.
Benediction.

All officers and committees of the meeting are requested to be present at the Church, at quarter before one o'clock. H. W. CORBETT, Ch'n of Com. of Arrangements.

DID NOT LIKE IT. — One of the volunteers on board the Julia yesterday on her trip up, was requested by one of the officers to ab- stain from visiting the breakfast table on ac- count of his intoxication; in consequence of which, said volunteer jumped overboard, but finding the water too cold for drowning, he commenced swimming and cried for help, which was extended to him by means of a rope. He was hauled aboard and laid by the boiler to dry.

COUNTY COURT. — In the County Court yes- terday there were sundry motions on the pro- bate and law docket, some cases set for trial and some continued. In the afternoon a tri- al was held by the sheriff of a claim of prop- erty by a guardian for a minor before a jury, which claim was denied by the jury.

EXTRA TRIP. — The steamer Julia made an extra trip to the Cascades, yesterday, for the purpose of transporting two companies of volunteers from Vancouver.

Some of the members of "Adams' Party," who went to the Malheur for gold, have re- turned. They did not find gold where Adams said it was, and the company divided — a part going to the Blue Mountains, where they found prospects. The other party had not been heard from.

It is understood that the proceedings on the death of Col. Baker will take place on Saturday next at the Methodist church, com- mencing at half past one o'clock. Rev. Mr. Pearne, has been designated as speaker on the occasion.

G. Collier Robbins has now engaged in the watch-repairing business, a superior workman just arrived from Denmark. Fine watches should be repaired by the best workmen.

IN AID OF THE SISTERS OF CHARITY. — In our advertising columns it will be seen that a "Charitable Ball" will come off at the Gymnasium Hall, on the night of the 12th instant, the profits on which will be given in aid of the school under the charge of the Sis- ters of Charity. Every arrangement, we are informed, will be made to make the occasion a pleasant one.

GOODS FOR THE WINTER. — Hat covers of every name and variety — winter shoes and boots for women and children, new style and good supply — new style prints and de laines for dresses — and fancy and staple dry goods — all of which are needed for service just now — can be had at JOHN WILSON'S.

Bear it in mind that the Cortes will leave on Friday for San Francisco.
